CARBONITE LEAD MINES COMPANY OF DEATH VALLEY

SALSBERY AND CHAFEE ARE PREPARING TO OPERATE ON A BROAD SCALE.

At a meeting held in Goldfield on Wednesday final steps were taken in the organization and incorporation of the Carbonite Lead Mines company, owning property near the western summit of the Funeral range of mountains, says the Tribune. The incorporators and officers of the company are: John Salsberry, president; E. S. Chafee, vice president; Augustus Tilden, secretary. These are the principal stockholders, together with the estate of C. A. Pray, who killed himself near Death valley some time ago while temporarily insane.

It was decided by the directors of the company to at once enlarge the scope of operations and following this plan another tractor of 50 tons capacity and a number of ore wagons will at once be purchased. The company already has one of these tractors in operation, but will place one on each end of the haul and use teams in pulling the loads over the Funeral range summit, using the same wagons from mine to railroad.

The road leaves the Carbonite mine at an altitude of approximately 1235 feet, descending gradually for 25 miles to nearly the lowest point in Death valley, 235 feet below sea level. From this point there is a climb of 3000 feet to the summit over the Funeral range and from the summit a down-hill haul of 20 miles to Zabriskie, the total haul being 45 miles.

Water has been developed in ample volume at three points along the road and the company will at once install tanks of good capacity at these supply points. The ore, upon reaching the spur at Zabriskie, is shipped to the smelter at Midvale, Utah. The ore is an ideal smelting product and commands a premium on account of its high content of lead and iron. It averages around 40 per cent lead, 20 to 40 ounces of silver and from $2.50 to $5 per ton gold, a total value of about $50 per ton.

The Carbonite company's engineers estimate the ore of this character now available at 25,000 tons, and it is said that the product can be mined and loaded at a comparatively low cost.

AMUSEMENTS

Butler Theater.

At the Butler this evening a very interesting program of pictures will be shown, as follows: "The Counterfeiter's Confession," a Kalem drama; "The Honor of the Force," an Edison comedy drama; "The Love of Beauty," a Lubin drama; and a Vitagraph comedy entitled "Extremities," featuring Maurice Costello and Clara Kimball Young. In this play the actors are invisible, excepting their hands and feet, by which one can readily follow the story. At the end one can easily guess the players. Tomorrow, "Trooper Billy," a two-reel Kalem feature—Adv.

JAMES H. CONGEO SUICIDES WITH STRYCHNINE

ELY, No. 1.—James H. Congeo of Chico, Cal., committed suicide last night by taking a dose of strychnine. Some time before 9:30 last night Congeo came to the Lawler house, where he and his wife were rooming, and stated to her that he had taken poison. No one could be found who could throw any light on the reason for the suicide, as the young couple appeared to be perfectly congenial.

The Bonanza hereafter will not be sent to anyone, after the expiration of current subscription unless the same is renewed by direct request.

LORENA MINES OF MINERAL OPEN AGAIN

LONG LEASE GIVEN BY J. HOLMAN SUECK TO MILLER AND MALATESTA.

Another property that was a big producer in the early days, but which has been closed down for several years, will resume operations under the management of leasers. The Lorena mines, consisting of three claims, the Lorena, Everett and Little Joe, the property of J. Holman Sueck, have been leased to J. H. Miller and Joe Malatesta of Hawthorne. Lumber, timbers, mine cars and other supplies are now being transported to the property as rapidly as possible, and the lessees are getting everything in shape for an extensive campaign of development during the fall and winter months. After a thorough examination of the property and its underground workings Mr. Malatesta predicts that they will be able to ship ore within 60 days.

The Lorena property is situated west of Mina in the Garfield mining district. On the Lorena claim a tunnel has been driven for a distance of between 600 and 700 feet, with a vertical depth of 200 feet. Several drifts have been run and an upraise made on the ore veins, and although no work has been done below the tunnel level, the property is credited with a production of $70,000 ore running as high in value as $1500 a ton. On the Everett a 220-foot tunnel has been driven. The character of the ore is silver-lead, carrying as high as $8.50 in gold. The silver ore is in the form of chlorides, black metal, bromides, horn and native silver. A small vein in the upraise assays values of 700 ounces of silver to the ton.—Western Nevada Miner.

SUSTAINS A FRACTURE ON HALLOWEEN NIGHT

Eugene Marty, the transfer man of the Mizpah hotel, fractured a small bone near the ankle last night while going to the masquerade ball at the Miners' Union hall. The fact that he was attired as clown had nothing to do with it, as the injury was received through slipping on the sidewalk. He will be on crutches for several weeks.

If it's of exceptional value at the price, it's sure to be advertised in the Bonanza, else the merchant would be hopelessly unprogressive.

GEORGE WINGFIELD GOES INTO DAIRYING ON LARGE SCALE IN CHURCHILL COUNTY

Loyalty is one of the most admirable qualities of man, yet there are but very few of the many to whom this state has given fortune, fame and honor who have displayed any sense of obligation toward Nevada or her people, says the Las Vegas Age. In striking contrast to the migrating hordes who have made this commonwealth but a stepping stone to wealth or political preferment is the attitude of George Wingfield.

When the possession of great wealth was no longer a novelty and the desire for a life of pleasant ease, the honor of high office and the plaudits of the nation would have moved a man of less firm fibre to lay aside the cares of business life, George Wingfield was forming new ambitions, too important to be interfered with by senatorial appointments or any political honors.

"My ambition is to make Nevada mines pay dividends. The office of United States senator would interfere with that work, therefore I must decline the appointment," said Mr. Wingfield. That decision is already bearing fruit in the making of new mines which will give forth their millions to be divided between capital and the laboring men of the state.

Now, as a further evidence of loyalty to old Nevada, Mr. Wingfield is investing heavily in agricultural enterprises about Fallon. There he is raising blooded stock, growing alfalfa and engaging in similar lines in such a manner as to demonstrate to all the success that comes through proper methods and the right selection of breeding stock. But he is not simply acting as a shining example. He is aiding every man in that section to do just as he is doing. He

ENGLISH STATESMAN POPULAR IN ITALY

PEOPLE FAVOR POLICIES OUTLINED BY DAVID LLOYD GEORGE.

By Associated Press.

LONDON, Nov. 1.—David Lloyd George, chancellor of the British exchequer, is the most popular man in Italy, according to Weichmann returning from the continent.

The common people of Italy, in discussing the English statesman, say that his well-known measures, such as pensions for old people, insurance, as others, are greatly needed in Italy. Whenever Lloyd George speaks in or out of parliament every word he says is printed in the Italian papers. Much more space is given to his speeches than in the utterances of the prime minister of Italy. His remarks are read avidly by workmen who can read to their friends who cannot. Britain's questions are Italy's questions. There are movements in each country in the same direction, and the Italian workman believes that the British leader is the prophet of the new era.
